On Wednesday 28 and Thursday 29 January, the Aula Magna of Valle Giulia, Faculty of Architecture, will host the national conference '30 Years of Design at La Sapienza', marking the beginning of the celebrations for the thirtieth anniversary of the establishment of the Design Degree Courses at La Sapienza.

Divided into four thematic sessions, the conference will be an opportunity to hear, through the 'testimonies' of the protagonists, about the crucial moments in the birth and development of the Roman School of Industrial Design, but also to learn about the success stories of 'Alumni' who now hold prominent positions in multinational companies, international design studios, cultural institutions and research centres.

An important space will also be reserved for the "Third Mission activities" organised over the years; the evolution of the educational model and its projection through some "ideas for future design".
